

Republicans Greenlight Tax Hikes for Teachers and Firefighters

Congressional Republicans claim that their tax plan will put more money in the pockets of working Americans. But under the House bill nearly 24 million working Americans would see higher taxes. These Americans include teachers who educate our children, policemen who protect our communities, and construction workers who help rebuild our nation's road and bridges. Instead of providing the kind of tax relief they need, Republicans are asking even more from these hardworking Americans, leaving them to shoulder more of the burden.

By 2027, the GOP tax plan would raise taxes on 23.8 million Americans making less than $100,000. Among those who could face higher taxes:

Source: Joint Committee on Taxation, Bureau of Labor Statistics, JEC Democratic Staff Calculations.

Note: Income is average annual income for a given occupation. 24 million applies to households in 2027. Occupations would be included in that 24 million if they come from single-earner households.